Formally a mechanical illustrator for the aerospace industry and government entities during the end of the cold war, Brian Swanson is a master illustrator with twenty years of experience in mechanical and technical drawing.

His current passion however, is creating the fluid shapes representing the organic and alive. His paintings are perfect proportions of color and space that have grounding personality.

In addition to Cricket Studio and gallery in The Arts Factory in downtown Las Vegas, Brian Swanson currently has a show at The Springs Preserve and now brings his work to The Bellagio.
